The printing bill of the late Constitutional Convention amounts to $4,017.18.

There will be a great reunion and Confederate barbecue at Uniontown to-day.

Dr. B. H. Hanna, for many years a prominent physician of Owenboro, died at Atlanta, Ga., Saturday.

It is strange that a reputable newspaper like the Bulletin Flower will appropriate the articles of another newspaper and run them as editorials.

America spends $171,000,000 every year for public schools, and $11,000,000 for collegiate education. The teachers in the public schools number 378,000.

Owenboro has an outcome requiring all business men to procure leases to pursue their vocations. Because they failed to do so, many of the leading lawyers there have been fined. Hon. Joe Noe was among them.

If you want to know the men who are doing the business in Ohio today, read the advertisements of the Herald. The real merchant has a message for his friends, and it will always be found in the columns of his country paper.

The fool who will drop a large part of his summer's earnings into the fates of the fakirs at the Fair this week is the same fool who is too poor to subscribe for his country paper and too lazy to read it. The best class of people read the Herald.

Owing to the heavy expense attendant upon the Constitutional Convention, and the tax reduction by the law, pig-headed Legislature, which is the same as the Senate, the Treasury is compelled to make no money on hand to pay the county school teachers. They will have to wait till it grows.

Folk Laffoon, once a popular Congressman from the Second District, whose name was well known in the village of Birmingham, Ala., to engage in the business there, was not as successful in scooping shucks as he used to be in gathering in votes, and has made an assignment.

The really tax levied to run the U. S. Government under the present administration is the tax on the head for every man, woman and child in it. This is raised by an indirect method of taxing a man on the articles he buys for the use of his family. It is the same law that tax because the hand that takes it is hidden in a glove.

The great Tri-State Fair meets at Evansville, Ind., September 24th, and continues six days. This is a fair in which Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky will eat, drink, and be merry, and the propulsive interests of each seem to display themselves to the best advantage. Kentucky will have a large representation there this year, and the meeting promises many attractive features and good results.

The conference at Caudill recently, relieved Rev. H. M. Ford of the charge of obtaining money with no prospect or intention to repay it. Rev. Folger, of Paducah, who was in that district, and sought to make himself extremely popular in various ways. The worst objection we ever found to him was his unfortunate idea that he was a prophetically inspired Statesman, who is almost a blackguard and ruffian.

Every avenue of business is feeling the impulse of the approaching plenty incident to the gathering in of the large harvests of the year. Trade is brightening everywhere and a year of peace and prosperity is promised. We trust that the faith of coming plenty, is brightening, buying and selling, and many of the best of these who do not already take the Herald are daily adding their names to our list. Have you unscrupulously?

Heaven's wooden' whisk at those malicious delegates who wanted the railroad commissioners to be elected instead of appointed, because Urey had criticized the Convention and is unable to be here. God! Grant his promise of the appointment of a commissioner if he wants it. He says in the Messenger:

There are other members of the Constitutional delegation, who, at all their present self-satisfaction, will never cease to regret that they didn't succeed in passing all their et cetera, e., those who dawdled and opposed their work.

Rev. E. M. Crowe, who has for two years been pastor of the First Methodist church here, leaves home finally to-day for Jeffersonville, his new appointment. Brother Crowe is an able and earnest minister, as well as a strong and zealous Christian gentleman, and it is with keen regret that his friends say he is leaving his wife and his family. He preached a strong sermon at his church Sunday night, and many eyes glistened with tears as he spoke. He is in his earnest way to his brethren, friends and neighbors. The community, without regard to sect or church relations, bid him God speed in his new field of work.

BOUGS BUTTONS.

After putting a tax of $4 per ton on oil, plate, William McKinley is trying to tax the people of Ohio, who are being imposed upon, and the Governor's place, to believe that the plate is really manufactured in America. To do this, he has had constructed a large number of little metal claiming to be the plate metal from American tin. The Southern Appeal quotes the fraud and the selling of the metal to the finest analytical chemists in the West, who pronounce the stuff to be of this American Government. The statement that "men of high political influence could be won" and the chemists said "we doubt very much the source claimed for the tin." The tariff tax robber is going down, but catches at every straw.

SHAMELESS APPRENTERY.

It comes with bad grace from any to be avowed spoliators and brigades to be avowed a party of pirates. The great financial party is willing to come down to the dirty scramble of the ward politician and subvert right and justice and patriotism for the sake of power. The party that has for years tried to pose as the party of high moral ideas to the dispensing taken from the people in the contract between Miss Henley's removal from the Coverport post-office, is a shameless disregard of public demands and private virtue.

The organ may be dead, but the spirit was a man who scarcely knew her, Logan Murray, of New York, and a brother of the famous Demosthenes, who has secured a large sum of money for the party. The people in the contract between the two parties are nowhere more different than between its leaders, one of whom while avowing devotion to the cause of the South, has not the same regard and deserving man that he may carry favor with the politicians, and other leaders who, when consulted by a friend as to what course to pursue, preached a very interesting sermon to a large and attentive audience.

What did Miss Henley want of "Republican strength"? Does virtuous life and efficient public service count for nothing? Does the spirit of the spoliators? And the pronouncement of the pious Postmaster General, does that count for nothing? And because the people of Breckenridge have saved the Union, and forsaken this party of cowards, an innocent orphan girl who is striving to earn an honest living is to be put out of office? The insatiable greed of this beast of prey, with the vain hope that when honor and principle are gone, the Republic will still stand, the men of this country will still vote the Republicans all over the Union, and because this party of cowards, an innocent orphan girl who is striving to earn an honest living is to be put out of office?
